
Rat carcasses found in Susbut & co Chocolat bars

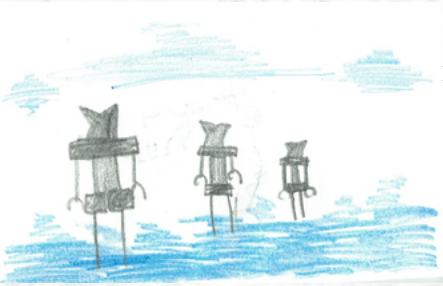

After the incident with the cross breed steak (almost everyone was cured) the government ordered an investigation into all other artificial foods (non organic) all of the company's where cleared except for one: Susbut & co

as they where examining their chocolate bars they found that it reeked a pungent smell as they peeled open the wrapper a half coked rat body fell from the bar as it splatted on the ground they immediately recalled all susbut & co chocolate bars from stores after the susbut & co food factory was checked they found that the factory was contaminated and found workers actively throwing piles of dead rats into the chocolate mix. but thats not all apparently they had bought boxes of the “cross-beef” hoping they could resell them at a steeper price, but when no one was buying them they ended up just chopping them up into there ramin noodles all in all the susbut & co food factory was shut down (obviously) for violating more than 60 food violations & 25 O.S.H.A violations

People make fun of pigeon lover

one night a gang of teenagers found a sinister kid who loved pigeons so they decided to “enlighten” him. they asked him his name & he said “peter p pigeon” they then laughed hesteracly & pushed him into a trash can calling him pigeon poo. as he ran away he was screaming “ill get my revenge”

Cross breed clump escapes from containment

As the ship carrying the cross breed was sailing across the atlantic one of the bolts holding a cage door was loose so the cross breed managed to escape. after this it started to free all of the other cross breeds calling “lets escape my brothers let us be FREE”

THEN the cross breeds started jumping in the water & as the water touched their skin they started to clump together into a massive monster as they did they started ripping the ship appart causing there to be a massive gash in the side of the ship after all its brothers escaped they started heading for the sea. As the monster was slowly treading away it gave one last menacing snarl & then dissapeared into the fog
